A refined, functional, and timeless design:
through our products, we create unique fire experiences that transform spaces and captivate people.

Creativity, Appreciation, and Passion

The success of Rüegg Cheminées rests on these three pillars. They form the foundation of our work and serve as the daily driving force for our entire team. For us, creativity means the desire to constantly reexamine the status quo and seek out what is unique. A milestone in this philosophy was our invention of the enclosed firebox with a glass panel. With this innovation, Rüegg laid the groundwork for efficient and low-emission residential fireplaces. It is thousands of such flashes of inspiration that, taken together, give rise to a product with the unique Rüegg characteristics.

Das Feuer gehört zur Familie

Fire Runs in the Family

Appreciation runs as a guiding principle through all our activities. It is directed first and foremost toward our customers, employees, and business partners, without whom our journey would not be possible. We treat our natural resources with the same respect: the careful stewardship of the foundations of our existence is firmly anchored in our DNA. It is often the subtle details that give us our competitive edge and allow us to stand behind our products with complete conviction.

Passion is the engine that drives us to build systems of the highest quality, durability, and ease of use. We want our customers to enjoy their fires for decades to come. This passion also means always keeping our finger on the pulse: We simply take pleasure in surprising the market time and again with ingenious innovations. This is what all Rüegg employees—and I myself—stand for.

70 Years of Fire Pioneers

What began seven decades ago with a bicycle and a vision revolutionized the world of fire: In 1959, Rüegg invented the first enclosed fireplace with a glass panel. Today, just as then, our history is shaped by passion, the utmost respect for the environment, and tireless innovation. As a model that has often been imitated, we continue to combine Swiss engineering excellence with the goal of bringing the perfect play of flames into your home.

Swiss Engineering

As pioneers in the field of fireplaces, we have been developing sophisticated fireplace and heating solutions for over 70 years. Thanks to Swiss engineering excellence, courage, and creativity, we create products that meet the highest standards of functionality and sustainability.

Everyday on fire

Our passion for stove building drives us every day. With expertise and enthusiasm, we help our partners and customers find the perfect solution. That's how we create the most beautiful moments by the fire for every need.

Timeless Design

We strive for perfection, and our products combine functionality with timeless aesthetics. Through the highest quality and durable materials, we create design classics that will be cherished by generations to come.

Design meets Swiss Precision

The Rüegg product line combines elegant design with the highest Swiss quality and offers you the right solution for all types of fireplaces.
